Prologue

This '60' page essay came about as a bit of a joke really. I have a friend who shows interest in things I like and always asks questions like; "Who are the band members?" "What kind of music do they make?" I tend to do a bit of over explaining, as you'll see in this essay, but I sent them the following message.

Please don't allow me to hit you with a 60 page essay about them because I will not shut up

Of course my procrastinating brain is like "Oh. This isn't such a bad idea. Why the fuck not?" So here we are. Oh and my friend did respond! They wholeheartedly support me in my procrastinating and writing an essay for them about DAY6.

So Ty, this one's for you!

An introduction to DAY6

According to our friends at Wikipedia:

DAY6 is a South Korean boy band formed by JYP Entertainment in 2015. The band consists of Sungjin, Jae, Young K, Wonpil and Dowoon.

Originally they were a six-piece band, hence the name DAY6, but Junhyeok departed the band in February 2016.

The band debuted with their first mini-album, 'The Day' on September 7th, 2015, with the title track 'Congratulations'.

Fig. 2: The current line up being dorks.

JYP Entertainment originally announced their debut as a five-membered band called '5LIVE', consisting of members Sungjin, Jae, Young K, Junhyeok and Wonpil. In mid-2015 however it was decided that drummer Dowoon would join the line up and the band was renamed 'DAY6'.

In February of 2016 however, JYP Entertainment stated that Junhyeok unfortunately had departed the band due to personal reasons and terminated his contract with the company.

The band itself

Of course we can talk about all the wikipedia facts but those aren't the things that made me like them. Because who the fuck looks up bands on Wikipedia (Whatever floats your boat though). So, I personally discovered the band through a friend who liked TWICE, a labelmate of DAY6 at JYPE.

But the band itself. What kind of music do they make? Well, that's a tricky question. I would say something along the lines of pop-rock. Some say pop, some say rock, others say alternative. Wikipedia is just as inconclusive as we are. The genre tab says; K-pop, pop-rock, alternative rock & pop punk. So pick whatever tickles your fancy.

Fig. 3: Wonpil and Dowoon, the maknae line, the two youngest of the group.

Fig. 4: Jae and Sungjin, the Hyung line, the two oldest of the group.

The boys themselves are five dorks. They're funny, silly and sometimes dare I even say a bunch of crackheads (like us, the 'My Days'). But they're also really sweet. They constantly show how much they love their My Days and wish them nothing but happiness and good health. As much as the My Days poke fun at the boys, we really love them too, and wish them nothing but the best. We support them, but they also support us.

The fans

Of course with a world-famous band comes fans. Lots of them! The fandom name is called My Day (My Days is plural). The funny thing is, DAY6 have a song called My Day, but it was written before the fandom name was even chosen and announced.

Each DAY6 member represents a day of the week, Saturday is spent with My Days and Sunday is their day off.

Here's the official My Day logo, a leaf shape, or as some interpreted it, a lemon. It's displayed on their official lightband that fans can wear during their concerts, most groups have a lightstick, DAY6 has a lightband!

Of course any fandom has its uniqueness, its quirks, its inside jokes etc. For the My Days it's mostly, in my experience, roasting the living hell out of DAY6 members. Of course nobody outright dares to tag the boys because we're all pussies.

The twitter fandom, or at least the people I follow, all agree that Sungjin is dangerous and he will wreck your bias, no matter what. There are lots of videos on YouTube that delve into this further, too much to sum up in this essay.

Music Videos

Ah music videos, something that's somewhat obliged when you make music because it helps you promote said music. DAY6 have, as of today, a total of 23 music videos. If you think I'm going to put them all here just to get to my 60 page limit on this essay, you're goddamn fucking right.

The bands diversity

So we've established that they're a band consisting of five men who make great music, that they're sometimes, if not all the time, a bunch of silly dorks. But let's look at their more serious side. What I think is really interesting about them is that they can all play multiple instruments and all take part in the writing and composing of music, which is something that's quite unique within the K-pop industry.

Jae

Band Position:
Electric guitar.
But can also play:
Acoustic guitar,
Bass guitar & Keys.

Sungjin

Band Position:
Acoustic and electric guitar.
But can also play:
Drums, Cajon, Percussion, Keys
& Bass guitar.

Want to know more?

Honestly, I'm a little stuck on what to show you more about the band without getting too biased about the things I personally like. So, here are a few resources I think are worth taking a look at if you want to dive deeper into DAY6.

Wonpilates

A YouTube channel that has lots of video's on the boys. Gives a good look into their dynamics. Especially their Day2Day series! Their twitter is also worth a follow.

Day6

Honestly, the best you can do is follow all their official pages. This does not include only the pages for the band themselves, but also their individual pages.

Covers

If you look on youtube for 'Day6 cover' your first hit will be their song 'Cover' but there are also a ton of covers they've done when they were in their beginning years! But also their 'Soundtrack' series and their 'Up and Down' cover are really good!

ASC and other tv shows

If you look on youtube for their After School Club visits you'll be met with a lot of information about the boys. By now the YouTube algorithm must understand that you're pretty into DAY6 and will recommend you other tv shows they've been on. Over the years there have been so many that it's difficult to keep up with them!
